Fr. Hal's Pastoral Perspective...

Only St. Luke tells of this second mission of the disciples. More than just the twelve apostles had been following Jesus. He chose a group of about seventy disciples to prepare a number of towns that he would visit. These disciples were just ordinary men, chosen for a not-so-ordinary assignment. The disciples were not trained in any special categories, nor did they have any unique qualifications. What made them different was their awareness of Jesus' power and their vision that they would be able to reach all people through him. We see that having personally experienced his power was much more important than dedicating their skills to God's Kingdom. Today, it would be good for us to focus on what he wants us to do in the world. Jesus was sending out teams of two to reach the people. They were not to try to do the job themselves without help; they were to pray to God to send more workers. In doing the work of evangelizing, we may want to start out and begin working to save souls and bring about immediate results. Jesus tells us the first thing we should do is ask for more workers, and before praying to God for those who do not yet know Jesus, pray first that other concerned people will join us in reaching out to them. There is no unemployment in Christian service. The Lord Jesus has work enough for everyone. We are not called to just sit back and watch, but to look for ways to bring in the harvest. Jesus leaves little room for illusion. He tells the disciples they will be like lambs among wolves. They would have to be vigilant, for they will meet all kinds of opposition. We, too, are sent into the world as lambs among wolves. In this, times have not changed. We, too, need to be vigilant and we need to face those who oppose us and what we believe with grace-filled power, with love and courage. We need to do our best to support our ministers in our liturgy, in our councils and committees, on our staff. We need to give them encouragement, to show our appreciation for their acts of service. Jesus reminds us that in our shared ministry of discipleship, the good we accomplish is really the ministry of Jesus, for we are the Body of Christ, the face of Christ in the world today.

VBS Volunteer Training Get-Together

Join us on Wednesday, July 28th from 6:30 - 8:00 pm for our final VBS staff meeting in preparation for the BIG week August 2nd -5th! Whether you've already signed up, or you're still thinking about helping - be sure you mark your calendar for THIS meeting! Contact Bridget for more info.

Live Joyfully!

One definition of JOY is the emotion excited by the acquiring or expectation of good. I think there is a fantastic connection between living joyfully and giving of yourself. St. Francis says that it is in giving that we receive. If that's true, and joy is something experienced by receiving or being about to receive something good, then sign me up for giving!! And what better thing can we give to each other than our very selves? You are what makes your time, talent and treasure valuable. I invite you to live joyfully and to consider giving of yourself this upcoming religious ed. Year. Our youth and children will need you - more info to come!
